History

History

Born to Irish Americans, had a childhood, went to school, blah blah. Met her husband, Robert in high school and they never spent a day apart save for a week before their wedding. On the day of their wedding they finally reunited and when they looked at each other Robert picked her up and spun her around in the church and said that he never wanted to be apart from her. Enjoyed and loved seventeen years of marriage together.

But all good things end. They went out for dinner on Valentines day, and they witnessed a 'mugging' so Robert and Barbara went in to try and stop it. They didn't even see the shovels coming until it was too late. When Barbara woke up, she was six feet deep into the ground with a splitting headache and starving. Managed to dig herself out, but refused to leave the graveyard without her husband and dug for him. She only found some of his clothes and his ring. Barbara has assumed him dead as he would not have left her or taken off his ring.

Since then Barbra has committed her immortal nights to finding out any information about who turned her and her husband and then killing them for ruining her life. Happily plays ball with any sect that has information to offer her, and once she's given a job she's like a dog on the bone.
